Educator Finds Town's Lack of Pride in Its Schools Unfounded

"Princeton citizens should be proud of their schools! The most discouraging thing I've seen in Princeton is the image this town has of its schools---why, they deserve much more! You should have deserved pride in them..."

Dr. Carroll Johnson, who spoke those words in an interview last week, is head of the three-member committee hired to help the school board pick a new superintendent. He ran one of the public meetings last Wednesday at which citizens were asked to speak their minds.

Princeton residents will be asked this fall and winter to give their views in two vital areas concerning Princeton's schools.

- Citizens--and mostly this means parents of children now in the schools--have already given the selection committee some idea of what they want in a superintendent, although not as many citizens responded as the school board had hoped. And the board is still eager to obtain citizen opinion.

- Parents and non-parents--including students--will be formed into a committee under New Jersey's thorough-and-efficient education law to talk about the educational goals Princeton wants.

"I think we've now heard from a cross-section of the community," Dr. Johnson continues. "It was a representative group on Wednesday night; in fact, I would say that we heard some extremely statesmanlike comments."

"But Princeton needs a real shot-in-the-arm of pride and unity--I was unhappy that I couldn't get more of this feeling from people. They avoided it."

"I would say that the school system here either doesn't communicate, or doesn't give the image of being responsive. The actual schools are better than the communication system."

Dr. Johnson and his two colleagues, Dr. Edythe J. Gaines and Dr. John Brubacher, will be back in Princeton in February to make a confidential report to the board. They themselves probably won't be available again to the public unless the board thinks it's necessary, but the board, of course, is available.

At least one more thing does remain to be done in Princeton, however, and that is to interview Dr. Philip E. McPherson, the former superintendent whose resignation in June precipitated the present search.

"We want to ask Dr. McPherson what he learned from his problems, what strengths he thinks a superintendent should have," Dr. Johnson said, "and we want to know what advice he'd give a new superintendent. In fact, I hope anyone offered the job would refuse to take it without first talking to Dr. Mc-

Victories by two Republicans and an independent Tuesday night sliced in half the number of Democrats on the all-Democratic six-member Borough Council.

Leona Medvin, running as an Independent with Republican support, easily defeated Democrat Marvin Trotman for the one-year seat on Council, the one year remaining in the term of Mrs. Medvin's late husband, Murray, who died in June.

The tally in the Medvin-Trotman contest was 2,062 to 1,860.

For the two regular three-year seats, the high scorer was Republican Richard Woodbridge with 2,464, followed by incumbent Martin P. Lombardo, winning his third term on Council with 2,310.

Next in line in that race was Republican Priscilla Pols with 1,979 and Democrat David Male, at age 20 the youngest of all the candidates, with 1,877.

William Selden, the second Republican winner, defeated Democrat Irv Urken for the two-year seat by an 82-vote margin: 2,189 to 2,107. This is the remaining two years in the three-year term of Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, who resigned from Council after her victory last fall, to accept an appointment to the Mercer County Board of Freeholders. All these totals and those in the Township, include final absentee counts.

Split in Township. In the Township, the balance of power tipped just enough toward the Republicans to give the municipality a Republican mayor next year. Hugo Hoogenboom is the Republican winner of the three-year seat, defeating Democrat John Bauman by 3,341 to 3,084.

The two-year seat was won by Democrat David Blair, defeating Republican William Cherry by 3,257 to 3,184. Before the absentee count was in, Mr. Blair was ahead by only 29 votes. But he picked up 274 absentees to Mr. Cherry's 230 and won the seat.

When a municipal official holds a seat by appointment, as Mr. Trotman and Jan Schneier now do in the Borough, the seat is relinquished immediately after the election.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said Tuesday that Mrs. Medvin will be sworn in at Council's next regular meeting on November 9. Mr. Trotman will have sat in his appointed seat for only 90 days.

Ms. Schneier, holding the Sigmund seat by appointment, will also step down and Mr. Selden will be sworn in on November 9. Mr. Woodbridge and Mr. Lombardo, elected to standard three-year terms, will not be sworn in until the regular New Year's Day ceremonies. So, as of November 9, Borough Council will have two new members,

one a Republican - Mr. Selden

- and the other - Mrs. Medvin

- a Democrat who ran as an Independent.

Voters took the election seriously in this Presidential year. Borough and Township were only one-tenth of a point apart in the percentage of voters who went to the polls.

In the Borough, 74.24 percent of the electorate voted: 4,953 out of 6,672 registered voters.

In the Township, it was 74.1 percent: 6,563 votes cast out of a total of 8,859 voters.

In the last Presidential year - 1972 - the Borough had a 72.8 percent and the Township, 73 percent.

The question always, in this

The Township also will wait until its next meeting -- Thursday, November 11 -- to swear in Mr. Blair. Because a Democrat won this seat, Democrat Jay Bleiman will continue in the mayor's chair until his term expires at the end of the year, and the present 3-2 Democratic majority will remain.

It is on New Year's Day, when Mr. Hoogenboom takes office and Mr. Bleiman departs, that the balance shifts. Elizabeth (Duffy) Hutter, senior Republican on Committee, said on election night that she had not discussed with her junior colleague, Josie Hall, the question -- which one will be mayor? It has been traditional for the senior party member to have that job, but Mrs. Hutter is said not to be enthusiastic over the possibility.

Congressional race against Democratic challenger Frank Nero. She was four - to - one ahead of him in the Township and two - to - one in the Borough.

Senator Harrison Williams beat challenger Norcross by more than two - to - one in the Borough and 3 - 2 in the Township.

Princeton went against the New Jersey tide and cast sound "no" votes against casino gambling. The Borough vote was 2,569 to 1,809; the Township, 3,991 to 2,131.

The water quality referendum, in the environmentally - conscious Township, won by 4,745 to 1,112. In the Borough, it was 3,437 to 647 in favor.

Institution and mortgage assistance bonds issues were also favored by Borough voters. In the Township, the institution issue won heavily, but the mortgage assistance was rejected by 1,825 to 1,033.

As always, there were stories. The best concerns a well - known Democrat in the Borough's District One who wanted to split his local ticket.

The Democrat he wanted to vote for was on the same line as the Republican he wanted, and the machine wasn't programmed to cope with that one. The Democrat, knowledgeable in the ways of voting machines, simply voted for one of the two candidates, then explained his problem when he left the booth. He got both his votes.

Incidentally, Princeton is the 35th community - over a seven-year period - Dr. Johnson has helped to find a superintendent. In one of the few comments the consultant made about Princeton's recent troubles, Dr. Johnson observed that "often a good board and a good superintendent just don't communicate effectively."

Citizens who spoke urged "don't settle for second best." They listed such qualifications as leadership, managerial ability, perceptiveness, ability to communicate, a demonstrated respect for divergent opinions and an understanding of the Princeton community.

"I want somebody who isn't just escaping from Detroit and coming to this nice Princeton with its mystique. We need somebody who is a success where they are."

When one speaker referred to Princeton as "this beautiful college community," one black woman said, "Oh, yeah?"

"I want a superintendent who supports alternative programs. That can be done, without threatening the system".

Dr. Gaines reported that students, who were interviewed that afternoon, felt these alternative programs were under consistent attack.

"First it's 'relevance', then it's 'back to basics.' We need somebody who doesn't just flew with the current."

"This has been a polarized town. Can a new superintendent heal us? I didn't support McPherson, but everyone laid all our problems at his door, and that was unfair. I'll accept whoever is appointed and I hope the town does."

"You have so many strengths here!" Dr. Johnson said, "teachers told us how free they feel to try for better methods of teaching. You all have a vested interest in this new superintendent. Assume good things and give him or her a chance."

suspect this may have been true in Princeton."

Dr. Johnson is director of administrative placement at Teachers College, Columbia University. Dr. Gaines is superintendent of schools in Hartford, Connecticut, and Dr. Brubacher is chairman of the department of educational administration at the University of Connecticut, Storrs.

Dr. Johnson told the audience of about 80 who gathered in Community Park that the Princeton board had basic requirements for its new superintendent: a PhD - (but not absolutely necessary); a $42,000 salary to start, a three-year contract, and experience in a town like Princeton.

About ten members of Princeton's black community were in the audience, and Joseph P. Moore, of Borough Council, asked whether the board planned to look within the school system for a superintendent.

Mrs. Edith Francis, acting superintendent, who is black, has strong support in the black community. Dr. Gaines told Mr. Moore that if the board had "THE" internal candidate, "we needn't be here."

She added that any candidate already part of the school system is "more equal" than an applicant from outside.

Citizens who spoke urged "don't settle for second best." They listed such qualifications as leadership, managerial ability, perceptiveness, ability to communicate, a demonstrated respect for divergent opinions and an understanding of the Princeton community.

Low-Income Housing for Elderly May Be Built On Palmer Square Lot at Chambers and Hulfish

Palmer Square, Inc., has told Princeton Community Housing, Inc., that it's willing to sell to PCH the one-acre PSI parking lot west of the Playhouse theatre for construction of about 100 low and middle-income apartments for elderly residents of Princeton.

The offer is conditioned specifically on providing permanent, alternative parking spaces for Palmer Square's commercial users. There are about 150 parking spaces in the lot now.

"I certainly support this move," Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week, "and I guess it pressures us to do some homework on a parking garage."

PCH wants to meet with Borough officials as soon as possible. Mayor Cawley said such a meeting will probably be scheduled later this month.

Palmer Square, Inc., has also said it will pay for design and for the studies needed to show whether the project is feasible. Nobody yet knows how much money that will take, said Marianne Rees, PCH president, adding that the study may be done in stages, probably starting with preliminary designs of a per unit for land. Fred Blaicher, president of Palmer Square, Inc., says the land in and Mrs. Rees said that question is assessed at $150,000. Assuming the No dollar amount for the purchase has been set. She also pointed out that PCH a non-true value, this would bring profit corporation, could the value of the land to never afford a parking garage. She says that discussion of parking with the Borough is therefore "essential."

The FHA allows organizations like PCH to spend about $1,750 to $2,000 per unit for land. Fred Blaicher, president of Palmer Square, Inc., says the land in and Mrs. Rees said that question is assessed at $150,000. Assuming the No dollar amount for the purchase has been set. First Step Monday. A meeting will be held next Monday with Palmer Square, said William Dix, architect with Robert Geddes, whose firm will probably design the new complex. "At this meeting, we'll talk about the scope of our study and analyze the physical characteristics of the site," Mr. Dix said.

The apartments will probably be in a mid-rise about as tall as the neighboring Nassau Inn. There will have to be a minimum of 100 units to make the project economically feasible, Mrs. Rees explained.

Although Mr. Dix emphasized that no definite decisions have been made, he said that walkways and plazas would connect the structure with John Street, the First Baptist Church and other features on the north. The building might, he suggested, have its narrow ends facing north.

"Whatever building goes there, would be a bridge and not a wall," he said.

The building may also extend over the present bank drive-in. Palmer Square has air-rights over that small structure.

Mayor Cawley said the Planning Board has started some research on the parking problem. He suggests reducing the zoning ordinance requirement of one and one-half parking spaces per apartment, pointing out that elderly people living in the center of town probably wouldn't need that many.

In the Township, PCH's Princeton Community Village pays 15 percent of gross shelter rents in lieu of taxes, and Mrs. Rees said she expected a similar tax solution with the Borough. The 100 units will be available to "the Princeton community," she said, without priorities for either Borough or Township residents.

TEAM BUS HITS TREE

Six Are Injured. A school bus transporting members of the Princeton High School football team and cheerleading squad to the St. Anthony's football game in Trenton Saturday left the road and struck a tree when its brakes apparently failed at the intersection of Washington and Faculty roads. Six occupants were treated at Princeton Medical Center for minor injuries. The driver, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Lisi, 43, 501 Ewing Street, complained of back pains. Wendell Breithaupt, 17, was x-rayed and treated for shoulder and elbow injuries, while Robert A. Cooke, 15, complained of pain in his elbow. Both are members of the PHS football team. Breithaupt later appeared at halftime during the game with his arm in a sling.

Three cheerleaders checked at the hospital, all 17, were Linda J. Spencer, and Margaret Whittaker, both of whom complained of head pains, and Stacy Florence, who suffered a knee injury.

According to police, the bus was approaching a red light at Faculty Road a few minutes before 10 when the brakes failed. To avoid a car that had stopped for the light in front of her, Mrs. Lisi veered to the right and rammed a tree. The 1972 International bus, owned by the Princeton Regional School system, had to be towed away.

Another bus transported the football team to the game, which was played after an hour's delay. The mishap is still under investigation by Sgt. Anthony Nini and Ptl. John Hammond.

PHS athletic director Norman Van Arsdalen commented that "the kids and the coaches had handled themselves tremendously. You hear a lot of stuff, and the kids have to take some heat...well, you can throw it all out the window. They were tremendous!"

Cars Collide Head-on. A Lawrenceville resident was charged with drunken driving and failure to keep right last week after his car crossed the center line and struck another head-on on Stockton near the intersection of Edgewood.

Frederick L. Arnold, 55, Cold Soil Road, was later released in $250 bail, and is scheduled to appear in Borough court November 29. Although bleeding from the nose and from lacerations of Bring sleeping bag and tally sheets. That was the homework assignment for the 46 Riverside School boys and girls who watched the late, late election returns Tuesday night at Riverside School, and spent the night in the school.

They are in a fourth-fifth-grade class taught by Martin Schneiderman and Laurie Posner, assisted by a Rider College student teacher, Penny Suffis.

For the past five or six weeks, pupils in the class have been studying the electoral process. They made pictures of state flags and calculated the electoral votes belonging to each. They wrote biographies of the presidents and made film-strips. They wrote on the subject, "What I would do if I were elected President." Ten days ago, they took a poll in Riverside: Carter, 171; Ford, 59.

Election night, when they returned to Riverside, they watched election officials open the machines for Township Districts 3, 9 and 12.

Besides sleeping bags, there were telescopes, because one parent, who had a 'scope, decided that while the kids were up, they might as well watch stars, while they waited for late-closing districts.

Boys and girls who had them also brought Teddies bears. In honor, of course, of the 26th President.

Re-Enactment of Battle of Princeton Jan. 3 to Involve 2,000; Event to Be Largest of Its Kind During Nation's Bicentennial

The biggest series of re-enactments of battles and historic events ever held in New Jersey will highlight the State Bicentennial Commission's Festival of the "10 Crucial Days" beginning on Christmas Day. The Commission has announced the detailed schedule of the re-enactments, which will continue through January 3, the 200th anniversary of the Battle of Princeton.

Approximately 1,500 volunteers from Revolutionary War re-enactment units in 17 states will portray the American, British and Hessian troops in recreating Washington's crossing of the Delaware on Christmas Day, the two Battles of Trenton and the Battle of Princeton. They will be accompanied by some 500 women and children playing the roles of camp followers.

Former Gov. Robert B. Meyer, chairman of the State Bicentennial Commission, said the military re-enactments will be only one phase of the Festival. There also will be a series of major cultural events, exhibits, an ethnic fair, symposiums and youth conference workshops. Schedules for those events will be announced as they are completed.

The Ten Crucial Days of the Revolution began with Washington's crossing of the Delaware on Christmas Day, 1776, and ended with the decisive American victory at Princeton on January 3, 1777. Historians agree that the events of those ten days helped turn the tide of the Revolution from defeat and despair to hope and victory.

Schedule of Events for "10 Crucial Days"

Saturday, December 25

"Re-enactment of the Crossing" — at 2 p.m. on the Pennsylvania side of Washington's Crossing, ceremonies will begin, commemorating the 200th anniversary of the crossing of the Delaware. Troops will begin crossing the river in Durham boats at 3 p.m. from Pennsylvania, landing on the New Jersey side of the Delaware River in what is now the lower park at Washington's Crossing State Park. Ceremonies welcoming Washington's Army will be conducted at 3:30 and then the participating New Jersey troops will march to Sullivan's Grove in Washington's Crossing State Park. Four to five hundred troops are expected to participate.

Sunday, December 26

"The March to Trenton" — Beginning at 8 a.m., the troops will begin the nine-mile march to Trenton following Bear Tavern Road to Sullivan Way to West State Street for the Grand Review in front of the State House at noon. The Hessian forces, who will have taken up quarters in the Old Barracks on the 25th, will meet the American troops for a brief skirmish in front of the reviewing area. The Hessians will be repulsed and surrender, and victory will be celebrated with musket volleys and a 21 cannon salute.

From Monday, December 27, through Saturday, January 1, there will be daily military exhibits and encampments between 10 and 5 in Trenton, Princeton and Washington's Crossing.

Sunday, January 2

1 to 5 p.m.

"The Second Battle of Trenton" — American and British forces will begin the rear guard action from Lawrenceville on Route 206. The re-enactment will proceed down Route 206, with skirmishing along the way, to Broad and Front Streets and Mill Hill Park by 4 p.m. Re-enactment of the "Second Battle of Trenton" will take place with the Americans on the south side of the Assunpink Creek and the British on the north. By 5 p.m. the British will withdraw and the Americans will light their evening fires in preparation for the march to Princeton later that night. Approximately 1200 troops are expected to participate.

11:30 p.m.

"The March to Princeton" — The American troops will begin the 16-mile march to Princeton. The route will take them from Mill Hill Park down South Broad Street to Hamilton Avenue, Hamilton to Nottingham Way, thence to Quaker Bridge Road and to the Princeton Battlefield. About 750 American troops are expected to participate.

"The Battle of Princeton" — British troops march from Princeton's Nassau Hall down the Princeton Pike toward Princeton Battlefield. About 500 British troops will participate.

8 a.m.

"The Re-enactment of the Battle of Princeton" — At 8 a.m., the American forces who have marched from Trenton will engage the British at Battlefield Park for a full-scale re-enactment of the Battle of Princeton. After the British retreat, the American forces will march to Princeton via Mercer Road for the final re-enactment in front of Nassau Hall. Total troop participation will be 1250.

"British Surrender" — At 10 a.m., the American troops will open fire on Nassau Hall and the British forces will surrender. Victory will be celebrated with musket volleys and cannonading and all troops, British and American, will be drawn up on the green for closing commemorative ceremonies and speeches. The Governor will make a final inspection of the troops and the troops will then pass in review, marching out of the University to their disbursement point.

the upper lip and chin, he refused medical treatment.

The second driver, Daniel M. Winterbottom, 21, 26 Random Road, was held at the Princeton Medical Center for observation. He received 25 sutures to close a laceration of his forehead and also sustained contusions and abrasions of his chest and knees.

His small foreign car, its entire front end pushed in, was judged a total loss. He told Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt that he had just turned off Elm Road and saw the car heading toward him. He braked and veered to the right to avoid a collision, Mr. Winterbottom stated, but "he hit me head-on. There was no place for me to go."

After the impact, the Arnold car veered right, jumped the Stockton Street curb and came to rest against

Two Children Hit as Use of Air Rifles Grows

In their only arrest mischief night, Township police took into custody a 14-year old Township boy and charged him with shooting a young girl in the neck with a BB gun.

The victim refused to give her name to police. The youth was later released to his parents, pending further action by Township Juvenile Officer Anthony Pinelli.

Det. Pinelli also reported another BB shooting incident which occurred the previous week when a 13-year old Township youth hit a young boy in the buttocks. He, too, was released to his parents, pending further action.

Det. Pinelli added that the parents of minors shooting BB guns must possess a New Jersey firearms ID card. "Even with that," he said, "BB guns may be used only under the supervision of an adult."

An increasing number, he concluded, are using BB guns without obtaining the firearms ID card.

a grass slope 58 feet away. The Winterbottom car, spun around by the impact, came to rest on the sidewalk at the corner of Stockton and Edgehill. The collision took place at 11:27 p.m. Monday October 25.

TWO CANOES STOLEN

From Carnegie Lake. Two canoes were stolen last week, according to Township police, who report that in each instance a chain securing the canoe had been cut.

Thomas J. Ohlemiller of Magie Apartments lost an aluminum canoe valued at $275; Susan Krauter, Hibben Apartments, Faculty Road, lost a 15-foot fiberglass canoe valued at $175.

Pierre Coutin, 206 Riverside Drive, lost his car. He told police that his VW station wagon had been stolen Sunday evening between 8:30 and 9:13 from his garage, which was unlocked. He valued the 1966 model at $500.

Henry S. Shustein, 974 Princeton-Kingston Road, listed the theft of a $300 camera from his home between 3 and 11:30 Sunday morning. Police report there was no forced entry.

Richard L. Skipworth, 20 Lytle Street, told police last week that a bag containing $300 had been stolen from under the front seat of his car sometime during the three-day period between Tuesday and Thursday. Police said the car had been broken into.

In the Borough, a VHF receiver, 12-volt converter, microphone and relays were stolen last week from a locked WWHH van parked on Witherspoon Street. Police had no report of the value of the missing items.

A Roosevelt resident lost his $270 guitar to a thief last week. It was taken, he reported, from his unlocked car while it was parked between midnight and 12:45 Saturday morning on the Westminster Choir College campus.

TRENTON MAN CHARGED
In Spelman Hall Theft. William Schemmer, 23, of Trenton, has been charged with breaking and entering and larceny, following a theft last week from a room in Spelman Hall on the Princeton University campus.

Schemmer has been charged with stealing a tape player valued at $600, a $110 television set and a $40 coffeeemaker. He was observed by another resident of the building who reported the incident to University security police. The suspect was arrested shortly after.

University police called Borough police at 2:44 Thursday morning to report that they had Schemmer in custody. Sgt. Thomas Michaud responded and made the breaking and entering charge.

Charged as Accomplice. Keith Ragoonianan, 20, of Witherspoon Street, has been charged by Borough Det. Ronald Holliday with being present during an attempted assault October 23 on a 17-year old Borough girl as she was walking a pair of dogs on Olden Street. Police report that they have not apprehended the prime suspect.

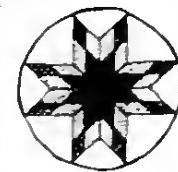

Ptl. David Alston on Monday charged David Hill, 30, Texas Avenue, Lawrenceville, with stealing a half-gallon of scotch whisky from the Pink Elephant on Nassau Street.

BATTLEFIELD TOUR SET
By Children's History Project. Youngsters looking forward to the January 3 re-enactment of the Battle of Princeton are invited to join the Children's History Project for a preview on Monday afternoon at 3:30 when a soldier's-eye tour of the battleground will be led by Richard Baker.

Children ages 8 to 14 may register in advance for the program at the children's desk of the Public Library but the group will assemble at the battlefield on the day of the tour. In case of rain, the program will be cancelled.

The Children's History Project, initiated last spring under the leadership of Anne Reeves, will continue on December 6 in the Library with a program on the coins of the Revolutionary period.

MONEY FOR PRINCETON

State, Federal Funds. Princeton's two governments learned this week how much money they will receive in revenue-sharing from Federal and state sources.

When New Jersey divides its

THAT'S WASHINGTON, ON THE LEFT: Lead soldiers in authentic Princeton Battle dress are now on display at the Public Library, in time for next Monday afternoon's tour of the Battlefield (3:30 p.m.) by 7-14-year-olds. Lisa Schwartz, a member of the planning committee, is the general.

pot, Princeton Borough will pay the rest. The state now receives $122,076 and Princeton will pay municipalities the full Township, $152,377. The state amount is distributing $100.4 million in income-tax revenues to all its 567 communities. Half the cost deduction for veterans, and of the senior-citizens property tax deduction—$160—is revenue-sharing money at the state, with communities already being paid by the rate of $6.72 per person.

Federal revenue sharing for fiscal 1977 will be $28,609 for the Borough and $45,644 for the Township. For fiscal 1978, the figures are $53,027 and $62,689.

BIKEWAY NOW SAFE

As Township Committee Acts. Although generous and anonymous donors are giving Princeton a bikeway up The Great Road, Township Committee passed a $42,000 ordinance anyway last Thursday to make it all legal.

Concerned about safety, Committee member Josie Hall questioned seven-inch-high stanchions separating bikeway from roadway. Colleague Abbot Low Moffat said the stanchions will have a vertical—not slanting—face, and posts with fluorescent paint.

Thursday, and at a special Monday meeting, Committee discussed Mr. Moffat's proposals to amend the Township's 1975 Green Acres bike application, not yet acted on by the state.

Since money won't be needed for The Great Road, he suggested, why not also delete a Parkside-Quaker segment, and substitute a path connecting with the Borough's projected path at Leigh Avenue, and winding through the new north side recreation area up to Cherry Hill? The abandoned amphitheatre could also be retrieved.

Mrs. Hall worried that if state money is used for paths around tennis courts and pool, Princeton might be required to open these facilities to the public. Attorney Gordon Griffin said he thought the possibility of court action was remote. Mrs. Hall also feared the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill would find itself with a hike-burdened parking lot.

By a 3-2 vote, Committee agreed to apply for $37,825 in Federal bikeway money. Mrs. Hall voted "no." So did Margaret Broadwater who said she disapproved of a bikeway along Kingston Road.

Committee wants to apply for $859,000 in new Federal public works money for work required on Princeton's sewer lines. (Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley told his Tuesday press conference the Borough agrees on a joint application for this money.)

Unanimously, Committee passed a surface-water drainage ordinance that has been worked on for almost a year. It requires that every development subject to the site-plan review ordinance, must provide ways to limit the discharge of storm-water falling on the property in order to prevent downstream damage.

The method is by detention facilities which would catch the water and let it out gradually. The ordinance says that water from above the development needn't be so detained.

PANEL SCHEDULED

On Women Alone. SOLO, the organization for women who are on their own, will meet Monday at 7:30 at the YWCA to consider "Living Solo in a Couples' World." A panel of women will discuss the ways in which they handle social activities, finances, children, housing, work and housekeeping. The panel will include women sharing housing with other women, living with children and living alone. Questions will be welcomed from the audience.

SOLO meets on the second Monday of each month in the library of the Princeton YWCA to hear speakers on subjects of interest to the members. Every Wednesday SOLO also runs a rap group open to any woman who wishes to come. SOLO membership is open to all concerned about the problems of women alone.

Mischief Night Targets: Tires, Cars, Mailboxes, Street Lamps

"Considering the number of kids out, it was not really serious, although serious enough. There was considerable harassment to some neighbors."

In reporting on mischief night, Lt. Michael Lisi of the Township summed it up: "Overall, incidents were kept to a minimum."

Over in the Borough, Chief Michael Carnevale remarked, "Hallowe'en was, as anticipated by me, very orderly." The only negative aspect, he said, were a few acts of vandalism. Both officers reported that Hallowe'en night on Sunday was free of incident.

Those negative acts Chief Carnevale spoke of included shooting out some 18 street lamps in the Western section of town with a slingshot or BB gun; breaking three windows at the Methodist Church on Vandeventer—for which a 15-year old Princeton youth was apprehended and charged—and the uprooting of a flowered mailbox attached to a wrought iron post.

The latter was found on Riverside Drive, "I'd love to have the owner claim it," said Chief Carnevale. He described it as white with floral designs.

An exterior lamp was knocked down and smashed at a driveway entrance to a Patton Avenue home, but there was an offsetting plus: not one report, said Chief Carnevale, of egg throwing or firecrackers in the Borough. He saw that as "very encouraging."

In the Township there was egg throwing, firecrackers and vandalism.

In two places on Prospect Avenue, a car had knocked down mailboxes and then driven across the lawn. Mailboxes were knocked over on Wendover Drive, stolen on Russell Road and uprooted in the Heather Lane area, where air was also let out of car tires.

Stop-signs were stolen at Snowden and Overbrook, Edgerstoune and Hun, Princeton-Kingston Road and Dodds Lane and painted over at Terhune and Jefferson. A street sign was uprooted at Prospect and Carnegie Drive.

A pumpkin was thrown through a storm window at 168 Guyot Avenue. From the Shady Brook area, police received reports of kids throwing eggs from cars at pedestrians and setting off firecrackers. There was more egg-throwing on Moore Street, Bertrand Drive, Dogwood Lane and Ewing Street; more firecrackers on Brookstone Drive and Ewing.

Police also received calls about kids throwing objects against cars on Caldwell Drive and another reporting an object thrown against a house on Terhune.

Mercer Street were incorrectly listed in last week's TOWN TOPICS as Mr. and Mrs. John Rubin.

HEALTH TESTS OFFERED
For Hypertension and Diabetes. Free health screening for hypertension and diabetes will be offered to those over 18 on Thursday, November 4, from 2 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m. at the Harrison Street Fire House, North Harrison Street.

The screening program includes referrals to physicians and follow-up coordinated by public health nurses.

Supreme Court: "No"

Fifty-one weeks after the election machine breakdown that started it all, the New Jersey State Supreme Court denied last Wednesday the Township Republican petition for certification, and thereby closed the case of Abbot Low Moffat and the broken voting machine. The court also said the Republicans would have to pay court costs.

On Election Day last year, a minute break in a voting machine in the Township's District 12 recorded only one vote for Mr. Moffat, a Democratic candidate. Superior Court ruled in December that Committee could make a temporary appointment, good until this 1976 Election Day. Republicans appealed.

When the Appellate Court upheld Superior Court in June, Committee appointed Mr. Moffat. Now with only days left until his appointment expires, Mr. Moffat is "legal."

According to David T. Blake, Health Officer of the Princeton Regional Health Commission, "With early diagnosis, both hypertension and diabetes can be controlled. We urge all Princeton residents to take advantage of this opportunity to be checked for these conditions."

GYM PROGRAM SET

POEMS PUBLISHED

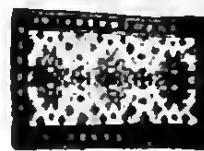

From Peacock Inn, F.C. Swain, manager with his wife Agnes of the Peacock Inn at 20 Bayard Lane, has published 23 original poems in a 15-page booklet entitled, "Poems from the Peacock Inn."

In their foreword, the Swains write that the poems "are expressive of some moments in the ten years we've been innkeeper-caretaker of the traditions of this old Princeton institution." They note that the Peacock has been a public Inn since

1912, "still an old fashioned lodging house for visitors to Princeton's many-faceted interests."

Some of the poems are very personal reflections on the middle years and love; others are very specific references to Princeton. One poem called "April in Princeton," begins, "That Bayard Lane magnolia tree-Parades its blossoms flagrantly. And tulips preen on Wiggins Street." Another, "A View From Within," describes some of the feelings they have about the Inn: "In the room where Einstein slept Men and women drink and stare....We serve the drinks and cook the fare-And sweep the floors and make the beds."

IT'S NEW To Us

NEW JEWELRY GALLERY
At 195 Nassau. An unusual gallery has opened in Princeton. Unusual - because we believe this to be a first in this area in that James Alan Gallery represents artists and designers of jewelry.

At any given time the work of 35 to 50 different jewelers can be seen here, and although they are all contemporary, their work spans the centuries as much of it is based on antique processes such as repoussé, granulation or enamel.

We were informed by the owners, Gale and James Potter, that most everything in their gallery is sterling silver or gold and made in one of two basic ways - either by casting or construction. The construction pieces are hand done by each artist and generally are one-of-a-kind, while the cast pieces are designed by the artist, set in wax from which a cast is made, and then reproduced as many times as necessary.

Naturally the prices vary depending upon the materials and which method is employed, and so they range from less than $40 to several thousand.

Second Gallery. This is actually the second James Alan Gallery (although the first year-round one,) and thus the Potters have brought with them to Princeton an excellent group of artists. Their other gallery is located in Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard and is probably already well known to many Princetonians.

Two artists, Scott and Lisa Krieger, particularly reflect the New England nautical life found in Edgartown with their scrimshaw designs. Although influenced by the folk art, their designs are original and range from simple pendants to whale's teeth with engraved choker of black onyx, Russian amber and gold filled beads boxes with an entire seafaring village around the outside.

DESIGNER JEWELRY: These necklaces, with their colored scrimshaw pendants and semi-precious stone beads, are indicative of Lisa and Scott Krieger's work, two of the jewelry designers represented at the new James Alan Gallery.

in its matrix set on the top, The textured canvas creates a warm, soft work of art, and at the same time tends to minimize whatever imperfections may have existed in the original picture.

Construction Pieces. Because of the hand work, the construction pieces are often more elaborate. A particular favorite of ours was an intricate gold and silver ring by William Scholl that depicts a bee curving around the finger into a flower from which he is gathering nectar, $220.

Another favorite was James Meyer's triangular pin of a slice of tourmaline crystal set in 18 kt. gold with the addition of a small diamond at the base, $1400.

Necklaces are forever popular and James Alan Gallery has a collection that begins with simple strands of silver and semi-precious stones (such as amethysts, garnets or agates) priced at $40.

They also have the designs of Nancy Tophorn, a woman with a flair for different styles, both primitive and elegant. Mrs. Potter said, "The beads she gets are among the finest quality we've ever seen." For instance, she has designed an interesting whale's teeth with engraved choker of black onyx, Russian amber and gold filled beads boxes with an entire seafaring village around the outside.

that is set in the center, $165.

The pendants, made from slices of elephant tusk, are engraved with softly colored with this process. Dru Parsons flowers and can be combined with beads or simply hung on ivory backs, $70, while Hiroko a black silk cord, from $40.

Popular with several designers is the oriental ginkgo leaf, but it is most attractive as Gayle Saunders' James Alan Gallery is at 195 east earrings. These come in Nassau Street, and the hours gold or silver, and in two sizes for pierced ears, $40 to $150. Saturday

Other cast pieces include PRINTS INTO PAINTINGS Bruce Keiser's gold and silver zipper necklace which has enlarged a favorite snapshot been shown in several national or framed a print of a great catalog this season, $100; his art work - only to be disappointed, $150; or so, you are not alone. Now, Carrie Adell's sterling link bracelet however, there is a process of shooting stars, $70, that transfers these images onto canvas, and the finished recently won the DeBeers product is fantastic. Called Art Fac, this method designer's competition. She takes a negative or slide, a sophisticated jeweler who enlarges it and then imprints a sleek and contemporary look, such as a image into an artist's canvas - hammered sterling cuff - producing something more bracelet with a Mexican opal than an enlarged photograph.

A third possibility with the Art Fac process is the photographing of an original art work and then having this image transferred into the canvas. Mr. Laughlin has successfully done this with an old lithograph of Nassau Hall, and he also suggests it as a solution when more than one family member wants the portrait of a favorite ancestor.

All the canvases are placed on wooden stretchers, and if they are a standard size (such as the photographs,) Art Fac Gallery has wooden stock frames to fit. Mr. Laughlin also carries some classic brushed aluminum frames which can be adjusted to other sizes.

The possibilities here are extremely broad, especially from a commercial viewpoint. It is a wonderful executive present, and it is also undoubtedly cheaper than renting art works for lounges or offices.

Gift certificates are available, but if you prefer to make a gift of the picture itself, leave one week for the prints and four to six for the photographs because of the lab time required.

Art Fac Gallery is located in Hopewell's old Grange (worth seeing for itself) at 12-14 Mercer Street, and the hours are Monday through Friday from 9 until 5, Saturdays by appointment.

These catalogs offer a broad choice of styles as is represented by the selections in the gallery. They include a quail, a contemporary winter forest scene, Cat's Cradle by Robert Vickrey, Sea Beyond by Carolyn Bish and a new print of Washington at Princeton - The Fall of General Hugh Mercer.

Any of these may be further enhanced by the addition of brush strokes, which is particularly effective if they were part of the original work such as in a Van Gogh. These canvases are priced at 80 cents a united inch (the width plus length) and start at about $42.

describing the building's design, Mr. Hillier points out that flexibility, multi-use and internal expansion to 1985 were key parameters. The Princeton-based architects received its first in-bound passengers from Chicago this past Sunday.

The three-level 25,000 square foot terminal with 360 free parking spaces faces on a new apron designed for jet aircraft.

The main concourse with its cathedral ceiling has room for Bear Tavern Road serves the future bank, gift shop and building which is near the other terminal concessions. The upper level is designed for county's indoor tennis facility.

The terminal, constructed over the last year, has been operating for two weeks while Aeronautics and a restaurant

In the far future, the upper level could be used for departures with the newly completed terminal, Mr. Hillier stated "The telescoping walkways when two aspects about the project traffic warrants it. The that please us the most are the building can expand ex-fact that it was built for a cost ternally in either direction well below the county's along the new apron as original budget, and the im-passenger traffic requires it.

LECTURES SCHEDULED

On Tolkien and C.S. Lewis. Dr. Clyde S. Kilby, professor emeritus of English at Wheaton, Ill., College, will deliver a series of lectures and conduct several seminars at the University on the writers J.R.R. Tolkien and C.S. Lewis.

Sponsored by the C.S. Lewis Society of Princeton University, they will take place between Wednesday and Friday, November 10-12.

Dr. Kilby, a scholar on the work and thought of Tolkien and Lewis, was a personal friend of both writers. Tolkien who died in 1973, was the author of "Lord of the Rings" and the "Hobbit" as well as being a professor at Oxford.

Lewis, also a professor at Oxford and later at Cambridge, is known for his Narnia Chronicles and the Space Trilogy as well as for his criticism of the classics and popular theological works.

The first lecture will take place Wednesday at 8 in McCosh 10 when Dr. Kilby will give his personal recollections of his visits and summer with Tolkien and his personal knowledge of "The Silmarillion," which is yet to be published by Tolkien's son. A seminar on contemporary Christian writers will follow in Whig Hall.

On Thursday at 4 in Whig Hall he will play a tape recording of Lewis' voice; Thursday at 8 in McCosh 10 he will give a talk entitled, "Experience and It's Track: A Way to Mental and Spiritual Health." For Friday at 4:30 in Whig Hall, a seminar on "Images of Salvation in C.S. Lewis" has been scheduled.

In the final lecture of the series, Friday at 8 in McCosh 10, Dr. Kilby will suggest a return from "scientism" to myth in a talk entitled "You are a Myth - Did you know That?"

Advanced as we are in health services, there is still a serious dental problem among the American people. Approximately 60 percent of all patients twenty to thirty years of age seeking dental care, have one or more missing teeth. Dental decay among school children is very high. That is why today more than ever dental societies are working for better dental health education, and to train children and parents to use better dental hygiene. Dental care should always be a preventive, rather than a curative.

As if transplanted from the French countryside, this Norman Country Home is a delightful contrast to the historic old Colonials on this Western Borough Street. Designed by Thompson and built by Hunt and Augustine, of stucco with wooden lintels and a roof of hand-hewn shingles, only 8 years ago, this exceptional home is suitable for a small family with room for possible expansion. A circular driveway, flagstone courtyard and double doors lead to a vista of spacious rooms with long windows, numerous custom details and every modern convenience. Foyer, living room with fireplace, formal dining room with mullered wall, modern kitchen, laundry, den with wet bar, master bedroom with second fireplace, luxurious dressing room with bath and doors opening to secluded walled terrace - on first floor. Abbot Low Moffat, His Job on Township Committee Done, Looks Back at Many Highlights of Half-Century Career in Politics

It was pushing midnight in the airless little conference room in the Borough Hall basement. For nearly four hours, members of Borough Council and Township Committee had listened to experts explain the incredibly convoluted, often contradictory, technical and financial detail involved in the Stony Brook regional sewer.

One participant was nodding off to sleep. Another said later that his brain felt like scrambled eggs. The fatigue of all these people was almost palpable in the heavy air.

Of all, that is, except Abbot Low Moffat. He was still asking sharply pointed questions. He was still interrupting, still nervously moving papers on the still prodding the experts in that clipped, rapid speech that always has an undertone of impatience.

Mr. Moffat is, of course, old enough to have been the father of almost everyone in the room and the grandfather of a few. But fatigued?

African Trip Planned. He's told friends that he's relieved to be off Township Committee, after these four years of service. But he's got an ordinance he'd like to see Committee enact--would have introduced himself if he'd had time to put it together before his appointment expired (no, he won't say for publication what it is), and he may continue to pedal along in the Township's bikeway program. He most certainly will not spend all his waking time doing what he loves to do--watching birds from the window of his Pheasant Hill Road study.

Besides, there's the return trip to Africa in February--"haven't been there since the '50's"--and all the slides to sort from the Antarctic journey, the slides from the solar eclipse cruise having already been assembled.....

But back to Township Hall. "Fiscal matters have given me the greatest satisfaction on Township Committee," Mr. Moffat said in a conversational interview this week. "A bikeway system would have given me the most enjoyment--if it had gotten done."

Mr. Moffat recalls with pleasure the budgeting procedure he proposed and saw through to adoption: the administrator now prepares the budget, relieving Committee members, many of whom are inexpert in budget matters, of the midnight job of pasting together a municipal budget. Flattering Mr. Moffat and the Township by imitation, the Borough adopted a similar system.

"...and capital planning. I believe strongly in capital planning."

The Township now has a capital budget for long-range planning, and the Borough adopted the idea just last month.

Once a Republican. There is a close, almost unbroken chain here, going back to Mr. Moffat's years as a Republican--yes, a Republican!--in the New York State Legislature, from 1929 to 1943, and a Republican leader from 1936.

"I re-wrote the finance law, trying for reform and trying to get budgeting procedures better. I believe we accomplished a lot, and in fact, my report on New York State finance is the only such report that 'reads.' The Albany Evening News said so and it's true: it was a very readable report."

"Oh, yes, most of the recommendations were adopted and many are still in use....

Last month, when Princeton's Township Committee was discussing four finance-related resolutions proposed by Mr. Moffat--and adopted by Committee--members found themselves listening entranced as Mr. Moffat related an incident in his New York State Legislature experience to the matter before Princeton Township.

"Well, I said to F.D.R.--Franklin Roosevelt was governor of New York at that time--I said, 'Look, construction of this George Washington bridge has just been authorized, but the Holland Tunnel is about to become toll-free, and if it's toll-free, who will use the new toll bridge?'--I wanted a midtown tunnel at that time. Why don't we sell the Holland Tunnel to the Port of New York Authority?"

"Go Ahead." F.D.R. said, well, if you can get New Jersey to go along, go ahead. So I took the ferry over here to New Jersey--I guess I must have been here on other occasions--and I met with Senate leaders and the legislature, and they were perfectly agreeable. So the Authority bought the Holland Tunnel and each state got $22,000,000."

Mr. Moffat's point to Township Committee was that the $22 million was not squirreled away in the New York State capital budget, as he believes it should have been. He thinks similar windfalls should be nested in the capital budget in Princeton Township.

Selling the Holland Tunnel, re-writing New York State's finance law..."Now let me see, was that the year I laid out the Thruway?" he mused, searching through his memory.

"Looking ahead, and all that sort of thing, I'd asked the head of public works to give

MARRY A MAJOR? On bended knee, Adolphus the suitor pleads with Major Barbara, the Salvation Army lass who lent her name to Bernard Shaw's play. Maria Tucci is the Major, Robert Stattel is her suitor, both are in McCarter's production which will open this Thursday under Kenneth Frankel's direction.

News Of The THEATRES

SHAW TAKES A POKE

At the Establishment. While Major Barbara abandons the world of profit for the profit of the soul, her father, London munitions-maker Andrew Undershaft, spends his time speaking some of Bernard Shaw's wittiest lines. It's "Major Barbara," of course, due to open this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. as McCarter's second play of the current season.

Maria Tucci is Barbara, William Swetland is her father, Robert Stattel is her suitor. Kenneth Frankel, who staged "Awake and Sing" last year at McCarter, is directing. He has moved Shaw's original time -- 1906 -- up to 1913, and has assigned costume design to Carrie F. Robbins. Marjorie Kellogg is doing sets, Pat Collins the lighting and Patrik D. Moreton, the hair-styles.

.....FROM BESSIE
.....to Linda. When Linda Hopkins comes to McCarter's stage next Tuesday (8 p.m.), she'll be singing some songs from her "Me and Bessie" show, as well as songs in many other musical styles. She started out as a church singer, and spent 11 years with Mahalia Jackson's Southern Harp Spiritual Singers, so many of her songs will be spirituals.

Long before "Me and Bessie," Linda Hopkins had been on the "Tonight Show," the Dinah Shore, Sammy Davis Jr. and Dick Cavett programs, and had participated in the Newport Jazz Festival.

'BOY FRIEND' ON TAP
Next Two Weekends. Tickets are available for all performances of "The Boy Friend," to be performed by the Princeton Triangle Club Workshops at 185 Nassau Street (the old Nassau Street School) this weekend and next. The cast and crew have been working diligently in the past month, building the set and putting the finishing touches on the numerous 20's songs and dances.

"The Boy Friend" is being directed by Milton Lyon, a veteran of both Triangle and the PJ&B Players. Choreography is by Lynne Dennis, a junior at Princeton who has performed with Triangle for two years.

Tickets are now on sale at the McCarter box office. They are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for SOMETHING old or new to sell. Try a Town Topics Classified. Call 924-2200 today.

Community Players Open Their 44th Season
With Delightful Offering of 'Dames at Sea'

IN PLAYERS' MUSICAL: Jack Friedel and George Warren provide some of the many light touches in "Dames at Sea," the Community Players' current production.

You gotta see
"Dames at Sea"
It's keen, it's nice.
It's par-a-dise!

The Princeton Community Players have opened their 44th season with a rousing rendition of the delightful musical comedy, "Dames at Sea." Flawless ensemble work highlights this happy, hearty spoof of 1930's musical movies.

The costumes are cutesey; the dialogue laughable; the problems predictable; and their solutions inevitable. And you'll enjoy every minute of it.

Advanced P.C.P. publicity indicated an attempt to recapture the spirit of the original production, also done on a tiny stage. Well, spirit is exactly what this production has.

Melinda Boroson heads the cast as Ruby, a small-town girl from Centreville, U.S.A., who arrives in New York City with stars in her eyes, her worldly possessions in one large suitcase, and her dance costume under her plaid raincoat. She's ready for the big time. Ms. Boroson is pretty, wide-eyed, talented and perfect for the part.

Happenstance. Then along comes Jack Friedel as Dick, the sailor who just happens to be from Ruby's home town, just happens to notice that she left her one and only suitcase on the bus, and just happens to fall in love as he follows her to the theatre. Mr. Friedel grins from ear to ear and curtain to curtain, and we grin with him. What a grand time we are having.

Ruby and Dick - a take-off of that popular romantic duo, Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell. But we don't need the razzle-dazzle of a Buzby Berkeley musical, with cascading waterfalls, revolving cakes, and endless mirrors. In this production, spirit and imagination and camaraderie between actors and audience will do quite well, thank you.

Within minutes Ruby has landed her first job, in the chorus of a musical that is opening that night. But Hennessey, the director, played with appropriate worldliness and weariness by Don Frame, warns her that "It's a jungle out there." But not for Ruby. She's gonna be a star - in due time.

At the moment the star is Mona Kent, played with lovingly despicable superiority by Linda Raglan in her acting debut. Whatever Mona wants, Mona gets, until some nameless force decides to raze the theatre on opening night. And then the fun begins.

Fine Ensemble Work. Vital parts of the beautiful ensemble work are Gail Beckman Buchbinder as Joan, the veteran chorus girl with a

SELTZER AS PROSPERO

For Intime. To be the only one on stage who isn't an undergraduate requires its own special kind of magic, but Daniel Seltzer is not only in such a situation as he plays the magician Prospero in Shakespeare's "The Tempest," he is also being directed by an undergraduate. The director is Mitchell Ivers.

Professor Seltzer is on the English faculty at Princeton University, and Princeton students have seen bits and pieces of his Prospero during his lectures on Shakespeare. It's been 11 years, however, since Dr. Seltzer played the part on stage, and he has confessed that he's had to start all over again, learning the lines.

This is not, of course, the first time in 11 years Professor Seltzer has been on stage. He was nominated for a Tony award for his appearance on Broadway last spring in "Knock, Knock." As a student at Princeton, he appeared as Iago in Theatre Intime's production of "Othello" in 1954, and he's been in McCarter productions also.

"The Tempest" will open this Thursday, November 4 and will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday also. Next week, it will be on stage from Wednesday, November 10 through Sunday, November 14, and Thursday through Saturday, November 18-20. Reservations may be made at 452-8181.

AUDITIONS SCHEDULED

For Players' "Bus Stop," Auditions for the Community Players' second production of the season, "Bus Stop," by William Inge, will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 8, 9, 10 at 8 at the Players' Theatre at 171 Broadmead. This comedy-drama focuses on a group of people forced into close quarters by a snow storm.

Often termed Inge's most theatrical play, "Bus Stop" offers a wide range of acting roles. There are three major female characters: a fading chanteuse, the middle-aged cafe owner, and a teenage waitress. The male cast is headed by a boisterous young cowboy and also includes his aging partner who plays guitar, a college professor, the sheriff and, of course, the bus driver.

Mr. Wakeman has traveled north along the Pacific shores from Mexico to Canada filming the meeting place of shore birds, land and sea mammals and the life of the underwater world. His film shows bottlenosed dolphins teasing the prow of Mr. Wakeman's ship, sea lions surfing in the giant breakers off the shore of San Martin and the catching of a man eating great white shark near the Scripps Institute of Oceanography. He has filmed a family of foxes living on the Catalina Island and extinct elsewhere and grunion coming ashore to lay and fertilize their eggs on the sands of a southern California beach.

A graduate of Stanford University where he majored in biology and chemistry, Mr. Wakeman was for many years a professor of biology at Pasadena City College. He became an expert wildlife photographer and lecturer, contributing to the Walt Disney True Life Adventures and to the films of the Moody Institute of Science. Two of his books on wildlife have been published by Dodd Mead and Company, "Southwest Desert Wonderland" and "Wonders of the World Between the Tides."

Single tickets are available at the door at $1.50; a season ticket costs $6.

TO SHOW FILM

During School Holiday, Princeton Hadassah will have a special showing of the film, "The Railway Children," Friday at 1:30 in the Playhouse on Palmer Square. Schools will be closed that day for Teacher's Convention.

-- Play Anything? --

If you play harp, brass, woodwinds or strings, director Milton Lyon needs you for "A Little Night Music," scheduled for January production.

It's the P.J. & B. show, to be given in McCarter January 20 through 22, and volunteer musicians for the orchestra are badly needed, Mr. Lyon says. If you're interested, he'd like to have you call Mark Krause, production manager at McCarter, weekdays between 10 and 5, 452-6139.

Based on the E. Nesbitt children's classic of the same name, "The Railway Children" is about a family in Victorian England that is down on its luck and moves near a railway terminal. It was produced for children of all ages.

Proceeds will benefit Hadassah's Youth Aliyah quota, the rescue and rehabilitation movement that has saved many Jewish children from physical and spiritual threat. Tickets at $1.25 may be purchased at Hulit's, Hinkson's and Robert's Shoes in Princeton and at Lucar Hardware and Windsor Toy and Hobby Shop in Princeton Junction. They will also be available at the door.

GRANT AWARDED

To Creative Theatre, Creative Theatre Unlimited has received a grant from the N.J. State Council on the Arts in support of its Performance Troupe.

Established in 1975, the Troupe gives children of all ages an opportunity to experience live theatre. Various forms of dramatic style are explored, including original theatre pieces and non-scripted plays as well as plays which invite children to respond openly and freely to the actors.

For this fall season, the Performance Troupe is presenting "The Hat," a play about magic written by Brian Way which includes moments when the dramatic action can not continue without the participation of the audience. The children must "improvise" with the actors and become various props and characters. To prepare children for this experience, a Teacher's Handbook is available which describes creative drama exercises to be used in the classroom before and after the performance.

"The Hat" has been enjoyed by audiences in Englishtown, Trenton, Somerset and Lawrenceville. Performances are available for schools, libraries and community organizations through mid-December, according to Pam Hoffman, the Troupe's director.

For additional information, contact Creative Theatre Unlimited at 924-3489 or Ms Hoffman at 883-3772.

NEW PLAY TO OPEN

In New Brunswick, "It's a good new play, and at this point, it's almost like producing someone else's play," says Eric Krebs, producing director of the George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick, and author of "Brothers," a new play which will open at the Playhouse next Friday, November 12.

Five years of revisions, re-writing and re-shaping lie behind the opening night. "Brothers" had a workshop presentation this spring at Livingston College, but otherwise, the opening night will be a premiere.

"Brothers" will play Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays at the Playhouse through December 4. The Playhouse is at 414 George Street, New Brunswick. Reservations may be made at 201-246-7717.

MUSICIn Princeton*ALUMNUS TO PLAY

In Series I Concert. Robert Miller, pianist, will perform in the second concert of Series I of the Princeton University Concerts on Monday at 8:30 at McCarter Theatre.

Mr. Miller gave a three-recital series at Alice Tully Hall in the 1974-75 season which critics called "a remarkable achievement." He has been involved with American music since his student days at Princeton, and for his first appearance on the Princeton University Concerts, he will perform a program of all American music, including Aaron Copland's "Piano Variations"; "Synchronisms No. 8" by Mario Davidovsky; "Reflections" by Milton Babbitt and "Makrokosmos II" by George Crumb. The last three pieces were written especially for Mr. Miller by the composers.

Mr. Miller's recital and solo appearances in the United States, Puerto Rico, Mexico and Europe have been extensive. A student of Mathilde McKinney and Abbey Simon, he was a magna cum laude music major at Princeton, where he worked with Milton Babbitt and Edward T. Cone. Mr. Miller is also a graduate of Columbia Law School and maintains a flourishing Wall Street practice, an astonishing achievement, considering his stature in the music world.

Tickets at $7.25 and $5.95 are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office. Student tickets are obtainable the day of the concert at $2.50.

A freshman at Princeton, majoring in music, Miss Weng is a native New Yorker and began her musical education at the age of 7 at the Juilliard School. As the top prize winner of numerous competitions her performing credits include appearances at the Flagler Museum in Palm Beach, Fla.; in the master classes of the renowned Bach specialist, Rosalyn Tureck; on WNYC's Keyboard Artists Series and many recitals in the New York and New Jersey area.

A recipient of many scholarship awards, she recently won the Henry Lewis Award in the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra's first annual youth awards competition and is offered a contract to appear as soloist with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra on their Kaleidoscope Series this coming fall-winter season. The concert is free and open to the public.

TO PLAY 3 CONCERTS

In a Single Day. The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, opening its 1976-1977 Princeton season on Wednesday, November 10, will return to McCarter Theatre with a musical "triple play."

On Wednesday morning, the Orchestra will perform two special "back-to-back" Young People's Concerts for 2,100 Princeton-area Middle School students. And at 8:30 that same evening, the Orchestra will open its regular Princeton subscription series, featuring the young virtuoso violinist Sergio Luca.

Brought to the United States by the America-Israel Cultural Foundation, of which Isaac Stern is president, Mr. Luca has fashioned a brilliant career both here and abroad.

In this, his first tour with the New Jersey Symphony, Mr. Luca will be the soloist in Mendelssohn's "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in E Minor," Op. 64. On the podium will be NJSO Associate Conductor Jesse Levine, who will lead the orchestra in the additional selections of Ruggles' "Men and Mountains" and Beethoven's "Symphony No. 3 in Eb Major," Op. 55, the "Eroica."

Mr. Levine will also conduct the two morning youth concerts. He has chosen a program called "Tunes, Fugues, and Melodies" that includes Wagner's Prelude to "Die Meistersinger," Bach's "Little Fugue in G Minor," Copland's "John Henry" folk tune, Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 4 (2nd movement)" de Falla's "Spanish Dance No. 1," and Bernstein's "West Side Story" Suite.

Many of the 2,100 children attending the morning concert will be hearing a "live" symphony orchestra in action for the first time. ART

In Princeton

PRINTS ON VIEW

By British Artists of ETS. A portfolio of prints by 18 British artists commemorating the bicentenary of the birth of the noted landscape painter John Constable will be on display for two months at the Henry Chauncey Conference Center Art Galley at Educational Testing Service beginning on Sunday.

The same portfolio was recently shown at the Tate Gallery in London as an adjunct to an exhibit of Constable's works. The collection also is scheduled to be hung in the Louvre in Paris later this year. An 18th Century artist, Constable exerted a significant influence on the history of western landscape painting.

The public is invited to the Sunday opening from 2 to 5 at the Conference Center on the ETS campus off Rosedale Road. The exhibit will be on view from 10 to 3 Monday through Friday.

The portfolio includes silkscreens, lithographs, etchings, a woodcut and a photograph. It was published by Bernard Jacobson of London who commissioned each of the 18 artists to pay their own tribute in their own art form to Constable's life and work.

Each artist contributed one print which symbolizes his or her own individual reaction to Constable's style and artistic philosophy. A major print in the portfolio is a screenprint by Ivor Abrahams based on works he has won numerous awards and are part of permanent collections including those of Penn State University, Rocca Arte Moderna in Italy, Bucks County Art Collection, and the Fred Clark Museum.

In addition to Abrahams, artists exhibiting at the Conference Center include Peter Blake, Bill Brandt, Patrick Caulfield, Robyn Denny, Barry Flanagan, Duncan Grant, Anthony Gross, Ivon Hitchens, Howard Hodgkin, Alexander Holiweg, John Hoyland, Terence Millington, Margaret Priest, Michael Sandle, Richard Smith, Norman Stevens and William Tillyer.

Groups of 15 or more wishing to view the exhibit are requested to call the Henry Chauncey Conference Center manager at 921-3600 in advance.

CEGLIA WORKS ON VIEW

At Grover's Mill Graphics. The gallery at Grover's Mill Graphics will present the abstract landscapes and other works by Bucks County artist Vincent Ceglia on Sunday, November 7 from 1 to 4. The public is invited to the reception to meet the artist.

An artist and teacher, Mr. Ceglia spends summers near Florence, Italy, with small groups of students, teaching, painting, and traveling to nearby Renaissance cities. Influence of the rugged Tuscan countryside with its medieval stone houses, wild flowers, and sunny climate can be seen in the artist's flowing works.

Emphasizing the horizontal in broad washes of textured color, Mr. Ceglia creates landscapes that cease to be simple copies of certain scenes and become universal.

Mr. Ceglia studied at the Brooklyn Museum School of Exhibiting widely, Mr. Ceglia has shown at the New Jersey State Museum, Philadelphia Museum of Art, Butler Institute of American Art, Hunterdon County Art Center, and the American Watercolor Society, among others. He is art professor in the Department of Visual Arts at Mercer County college.

The gallery at Grover's Mill Graphics is at 164 Cranbury Neck Road, Princeton Junction. Regular hours are 10 to 4 or by appointment, Thursday through Sunday.

TWO SHOWS ADDED

To Art Association Trip. Two other shows, the drawings of Winslow Homer, and some works of Gustave Courbet, will be included in the Princeton Art Association's projected trip to the Joseph Hirshhorn Museum in Washington, D.C., on November 9.

The Homer drawings and watercolors, 32 in total, also on exhibit at the Hirshhorn, represent one of the most complete selections of the work of this 19th century artist in any museum. Also included will be selections of Courbet's work, which had a direct impact on Hans Hofmann's canvases. The Hofmann retrospective is the first large showing of his oil paintings since his death.

A chartered Greyhound bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center (Acme side) at 7 a.m. and will return at approximately 8 p.m. Light refreshments will be available on the bus. Cost for the trip is $15, including transportation and a $3 donation to the Art Association. For further information call 921-3600.

PHOTOGRAPHY IS TOPIC

Of Adult School Talk. Emmet Gowin, lecturer, author and well known photographer, will speak on "Photography: Intuition and Poetic Logic" on Thursday, November 11, at 8 in the Princeton High School library. The lecture is another in the series, The Many Faces of Art, sponsored by the Adult School.

Mr. Gowin will have an exhibit of his photographs starting November 4 at the Light Gallery in New York City and his first book, "Photographs," has just been published by Alfred A. Knopf. His talk will include an informal discussion of photography, illustrated with slides, and will emphasize the tradition of creative photography. He will illustrate how intuition and invention are combined to produce a creative work.

The series is available to the public on an individual lecture or a course basis.

EXHIBIT AT HOSPITAL Reception Planned for Sunday Judi Finegan Niemann is the artist whose work will be featured at The Medical Center at Princeton this month. Her watercolor paintings and pen and ink sketches will be on display from November 7 through December 5.

Ms. Niemann, a native of West Chester, Pennsylvania, has been painting and drawing for eight years. Since graduation from Rosemont College, she has been a professional artist. Her illustrations have been published in numerous magazines and newspapers, and the town of Chichester, Pennsylvania, commissioned her to do a series of bicentennial plates.

Ms. Niemann is a member of the Princeton Art Association, Garden State Watercolor Society and Chester County Art Association. She has exhibited in juried shows with all three organizations. Her work has hung in the Gallery at Rosemont College, The Reed House Gallery in Hightstown, Radley Run Country Club, and the Ocean City Boardwalk Art Show. She is represented in numerous private collections.

Ms. Niemann is now associated with Charles Dunn of Cranbury, whom she assists with his watercolor classes at The Loft Gallery. She has earned a reputation in this area for her watercolor paintings and pen and ink sketches of homes commissioned by homeowners, as well as for her paintings of local scenes.

The public is invited to attend the opening and reception for this display Sunday, from 1-3 in the lobby at The Medical Center. Refreshments will be served.

ACRYLICS ON VIEW

At Pennington Gallery. The Color Wheel at 23b West Delaware Avenue, Pennington, is currently showing a new exhibit of the latest paintings by Linda Osborne. Landscape is the major subject matter of the exhibit, and the paintings are executed in acrylics on watercolor paper.

Ms. Osborne is a Pennington resident who studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and has shown her work widely throughout New Jersey. She has taught watercolor, acrylic and oil painting classes in the Mercer County area and presently teaches a class at the Color Wheel.

In mid-November, Ms. Osborne's paintings will be joined by the works of various area artists and craftspeople.

This group show will continue throughout the holiday season and should provide a wide spectrum of Christmas gift ideas. The Color Wheel's gallery is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 to 5.

and flower arranging.

A donation will be taken at the door and refreshments will be served. Proceeds will benefit a Hopewell Valley High School senior who plans to attend Rutgers or Mercer County Community College and major in horticulture. Members of the hospitality committee are Mrs. A.V.S. Olcott, chairman, Mrs. J.W. Tuska, Mrs. W. Schraner, Mrs. Robert Passantino, Mrs. E.C. Bonacci and Mrs. Mortimer A. Zwaaf.

The Lawrence Township Senior Citizens Club will meet Tuesday, November 16, at 12:30 at the Slackwood Firehouse. Thanksgiving Dinner will be served.

Princeton Action for Chile will hold its second meeting on Friday at 7:30 in McCosh 66 on the Princeton University campus. This group, founded after the assassination of former Chilean ambassador Orlando Letelier in Washington, is committed to the support of human rights in Chile. At Friday's meeting, there will be reports on the investigation into Mr. Letelier's assassination and on the campaign to halt aid to the Chilean government, and a discussion of plans for a "Concert for Chile" in Princeton later this month. Prospective members welcome.

In the spirit of International World Mutual Service Week, the YWCA World Service Committee will sponsor an international tea on Thursday, November 11 at 3. The public is invited.

Composed of members who speak many languages and have lived in varied cultures, the Committee entertains foreign visitors as well as Americans whose interests are international. Many languages will be heard and often this fellowship lends an opportunity for newcomers in the United States to practice their English, and for Americans to use their rusty Spanish, French or Italian.

The West Windsor Garden Club's monthly meeting on Monday will feature a talk and demonstration by Michelle Zieger on how to grow plants without using soil, a technique recently introduced in this country. Special materials needed for "growing plants without soil" may be purchased during the meeting, which will be held in the Dutch Neck School on Village Road East at 7:45. All those interested in gardening are welcome.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will meet at 6:30 Monday at All Saints Church for a covered-dish supper, orientation and program meeting.

The speaker will be Phyllis McEwen, Manager of Production and Inventory Control for the Knickerbocker Toy Company. Ms. McEwen is past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of the Plainsfields and of the Somerset Club of Somerville, has served as Director of BPW District Five, and has filled a number of offices under four Presidents of the New Jersey Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. She will speak on "Women in the Third Century."

Membership in the club is open to working women who subscribe to the goals of the BPW, and non-member working women are invited to attend BPW meetings. Non-members who would like to attend this meeting should call Mrs. Helen Povilaitis, 799-0524 evenings, before Friday. Cost of dinner is $3 or a covered dish.

Those who are interested in learning about the goals and activities of BPW should contact Lorraine Hilst, 924-9733; Jone-Lough Tobin, 924-0030; or Polly Way, 924-1712.

George Gallup Jr., president of The Gallup Poll, will be the speaker at the husband and wife meeting of the Lawrenceville Men's Breakfast Club on Sunday at 8:15 in the Dining Center of the Lawrenceville School. His topic will be "An Analysis of the 1976 Election." The Rev. Arthur M. Kaufmann, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, will give the invocation.

All men of whatever religious, racial, political, and professional affiliation are welcome to attend. Reservations at $2.50 per person may be made by Friday by calling 896-0244 or 896-1212.

A scholarship benefit luncheon and silent auction is being planned by the Woman's Club of Lawrenceville for Tuesday at noon in the Kirby Arts Center of the Lawrenceville School.

Proceeds will provide college scholarship funds for two young women from the Lawrenceville area. This has been a continuing activity of the Woman's Club since it was established in 1937 to honor the wife of the former master of the Lawrenceville School.

Committee members making arrangements for the benefit are Mrs. Thomas Eglin, chairman; Mrs. John Eglin, prospective members welcome. Dr. William F. Haynes Jr., will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Princeton Chapter of Deborah at the First National Bank of Central N.J., Rocky Hill, on Tuesday, November 9 at 8.

Dr. Haynes, head of Cardiology at Princeton Medical Center and a member of the cardiology staff at Deborah Hospital, will speak and show slides on "Smoking and the Heart."

Members and guests are invited. A question and answer period follows.

Eglin, chairman; Mrs. John Eglin, will follow, and refreshments K.D. Chivers, Mrs. Sidney Eglin, will be served.

Shea, Mrs. John B. Strasenburgh, Mrs. John King and Mrs. R. Graham Akers. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Miles Truesdell at 896-0932. Donation for a ticket for both luncheon and auction will be $4.

The YWCA Newcomers Club will see a demonstration of Swedish Gymnastic Exercise during its general meeting Thursday, November 11, at 12:30 at the YMCA-YWCA. This is a method of rhythmic exercises done to music to tone and strengthen muscles, improve endurance, flexibility and coordination, condition the cardiovascular system and develop a sense of rhythm, balance and timing.

Barbara Daume, Director of Health, Physical Exercise and Recreation at the YWCA and Margaretha Maryk, instructor of Swedish Gymnastic Exercise will conduct the program on the theme,

"We'd Like To Teach The World To Move."

A representative from the Volunteer Friendly Visitors program will also speak. For further information, call Jean Chido, 655-1061, or Donna Wepplo, 921-6208.

lanes, such-and-such width. I said to my wife, Marian, 'Now, I need a short name for this road, something that will fit on a sign.'

"'Thruway' is what we came up with, but I hate shorthand spelling. Marian said, well, I can't think of anything else, so we settled on 'thruway.'

"The only fight I had was with billboards, and everybody was so busy fighting that one that I got the Thruway!"

"Dewey decided later (Governor Thomas E. Dewey) that the Thruway should have tolls. Rather annoyed me."

In another highway skirmish involving the Taconic Parkway, Mr. Moffat jostled with engineers in Robert Moses' department. Designer suits, fur-trimmed coats and pants suits are available, as well as men's suits, ties, and shirts plus household articles, books, toys and games. All leftovers will be sold Monday from 2-4 for $1 per bag.

Members of the Women's Division who have been working to make this sale a success include Ann Lowe, Marsha Freeman, Rhona Porter, Eva Spears, Jennie Williams, Carol Horowitz, Estelle Columb, Cindy Chessler, Celia Herzog, Barbara Curran, Irene Katz, and the many volunteers who will do the actual selling.

FLORIDA TRIP SET

By YMCA For Seniors. The YMCA is planning a Florida trip for seniors of the area, beginning Monday, November 29, and running for eight nights and nine days.

The trip will include several days in Washington, D.C., a night in Savannah, Georgia, and four nights at a Gulf-front hotel in Sarasota, Florida, and travel will be via cruiser bus. The deadline for a response is Monday. Call the YMCA office, or Jenny Jackson, trip leader.

Battled Moses. Robert Moses?

"I had a bitter fight with him in the constitutional convention and I licked him on the first round-can't recall what it was about, but I decided I was going to stop when I was ahead. I never tangled with him again, but I knew every one of those people in the book about Moses. I'll have to go through it sometime and underline them all...."

One of the few defeats in Mr. Moffat's Township Committee tenure—if it can be called a defeat—is the sluggish pace of the bikeways program.

"I think you HAVE to plan ahead," he says decisively. "There will be more and more cyclists and you must get them off the roadway as the town grows, building bikeways, especially along older, narrower roads and dangerous ones like Cherry Hill."

Mr. Moffat has been a hard and decisive fighter on Committee, but a gracious loser and, politician that he has always been, sometimes a trader. He has an asperity, an impatience with mental reactions that aren't always as quick as his own. He once took a reporter to task for continued use of the word "tartly" in describing a Moffat quote.

His own quickness of speech sometimes tumbles over itself, and he has frequently called Township attorney Gordon Griffin "Mr. Gordon." But Mr. Moffat himself has two "last" names, and Mr. Griffin will promptly say in reply, "...actually, Mr. Abbot..."

Mr. Moffat, who is 75 and will turn 76 next May, says he has no words of wisdom as he

Tigers' Errors Again Hand Opponent Victory; Yale Domination of Rivalry Expected to Grow

SEVEN WASN'T A LUCKY NUMBER: This fumbled punt return was one of seven turnovers of which Penn was guilty in Saturday's football game. Andy Hyldston is about to recover for Princeton, but Tigers gave up last-minute touchdown to lose, 10-9.

Trivia-minded sports fans may soon be asking the question, "When was the last time Princeton beat Yale in football, and how did the Tigers manage to do it?"

In all seriousness, many Princetonians who follow the team's fortunes closely might not be able to beat a 10-second time-limit with the answer. It was a full decade ago in the Yale Bowl, the Orange and Black escaping from a looming 7-6 defeat when Captain Walt Kozumbo blocked an Eli punt and Larry Stupski scooped up the ball and ran 40 yards untouched into the end zone with 3:02 left in the game.

Ever since, the Blue has dominated the series -- by recruiting harvest that margins ranging from 17-14 in regularly matriculates at New Haven for Cozza is in the (both games which Princeton should have won) to one-sided routs such as 42-17 in 1968 (the last year for the Calvin Hill-Brian Dowling combine) and 30-13 three years ago, when a lone victory over Colgate kept the Tigers from going 0-for-9.

On Saturday at New Haven, Yale will be a prohibitive favorite to run its string to 10. Chances of an upset are minimal because Yale wins with basic football, the no-nonsense type of running straight at you with crisp blocking and capable ball carrying until the point is firmly made that it is the superior team.

Cozza a Great Coach: When John Pont unexpectedly left New Haven to coach at Indiana a couple of years after he had been installed at Yale, the administration there juked the prospect of another painstaking, drawn-out search for a successor and promptly tapped one of his assistants for the job. A baker's dozen years later, Carmen Cozza has a splendid record of 75 victories against 29 defeats and a lone tie (that incredible 29-all go-round with Harvard in 1968).

No coach among the eight Ivies can come close to matching Cozza's skill in fielding a team capable of OFFENSE: Fine running game makes it Ivy League's best. Sheer strength and straightaway hitting will wear Tigers down.

DEFENSE: Elis No. 1 here, too. Personnel adequate to contain Princeton attack averaging eight points a game.

CHIEF ASSET: Running back John Pagliaro, who leads not only Ivies but East in both yards gained rushing and touchdowns scored.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Quarterbacking can be inconsistent, keeping Elis from breaking games open. Margin in five of six victories has ranged from 4 to 15 points.

final 17 seconds for numerous reasons. Had they been able to eliminate any one of their own mistakes, they would in all likelihood have won. Among the most costly errors:

- Two fourth-quarter penalties for illegal procedure — the kind of needless motion that should be eliminated by a team before the season is a third gone. Each not only forced the Tigers to punt but each stopped the clock. Had it kept running, the 17 seconds left when Penn scored would long since have been gone — and the Quakers were out of time outs.

- Interior line blocking so ineffective that a runner of Bobby Isom's ability could not make more than a foot -- when only three were needed -- for a vital first down with less than two minutes to go. The Tigers were that close to being able to run out the clock even though one of the illegal motion penalties had required them to make 15 yards instead of 10 to hold onto the ball.

- Play-calling from the bench that helped grind the Princeton running game to a halt because Kirby Lockhart was almost never given permission to pass. Despite a 54 percent completion average this season, and a fine 5-for-7 performance in the first half, he threw the ball just three times while the Tigers were working to build the 9-3 lead that proved insufficient.

As has so often been the case in the past three or four years, both in games Princeton has

MISTAKES BEAT TIGERS
As Penn Rallies to Win, 10-9. Much of what is wrong with Princeton football was spread out on the Palmer Stadium turf in the second half of Saturday's game with Pennsylvania. As they had last fall against Dartmouth, the Tigers managed to lose to an opponent which handed them the ball seven times on fumbles or interceptions. The Tigers dropped a 10-9 decision on a touchdown in the lost when it was ahead and in opportunities the Tigers missed to catch their opponents, mistakes in the closing minutes made the difference. In the second half, Penn outgained the losers, 216 yards to 84, and in passing, 166 yards to 27. In driving 64 yards in a minute and 29 seconds for the game's only touchdown, the Quakers raised their third-down conversions in the second half to a fine 4 of 6, while Princeton could manage no better than 3 of 12.

As has so often been the case, the Tigers' generally overmatched defense gave a fine account of itself, despite the fact that Bob Graustein's accurate passing resulted in a total offensive debit against it of 362 yards. In the final 17 minutes of action, Princeton recovered four fumbles, adding to the three passes picked off for a total of seven turnovers.

No team, especially one so devoid of a running game that it can manage but 87 yards on the ground, should win after committing that many errors, but the Quakers did here Saturday. The victory marked the first time in the century-old series that Penn has ever beaten Princeton five times in a row, and Princeton's cup is the blitzen because only one of those Quaker teams has been much above average in ability.

Now the Tigers seem headed for a 2-7 season, a 50 percent retrogression from last year's unsatisfactory 4-5 mark. In Ivy action, of course, it is always possible that a definite underdog can upset a heavy favorite, but both Yale and Dartmouth are still in the running for the Ivy title and would appear to be superior to Princeton no matter how well it plays.

Over the years, most college football teams experience depressions in their fortunes and then return to a competitor's role among their traditional opponents. Princeton's problem is not only that the current downturn began six long years ago, but that there is currently no light at the end of the tunnel.

25 GAMES BOOKED

For Tiger Quintet, Princeton's defending Ivy League basketball champions have begun practice for a 25-game schedule that is one of the most challenging in the Tigers' history.

Included are the usual home and home series with the seven Ivy League opponents and an appearance in the Kodak Classic in Rochester, N.Y. The field includes Ohio State, St. Bonaventure, Princeton and the host school, Rochester.

In addition to its seven Ivy home games, Princeton will also entertain Notre Dame, Colgate, Navy and St. Joseph's. On the road, it will face Maryland, Villanova, Rutgers, St. John's and William & Mary along with the seven Ivy teams.

Princeton is coming off a 22-5 season. The Tigers swept through the Ivy League with a perfect 14-0 record and participated in the NCAA Tournament where they lost a 54-53 decision to Rutgers.

The schedule: Nov. 27, Colgate; Dec. 1, Navy; 4, at Maryland; 11, Saint Joseph's; 13, at Villanova; 20, at Rutgers; 28-29, at Kodak Classic (Ohio State, St. Bonaventure, Rochester); Jan. 3, Notre Dame; 7, Harvard; 8, Dartmouth; 11, at Pennsylvania; 22, at St. John's; 26, at William & Mary; 29, Pennsylvania; 4, at Yale; 5, at Brown; 11, Cornell; 12, Columbia; 18, at Dartmouth; 19, at Harvard; 27, at Columbia; 28, at Cornell; March 4, Brown; 5, Yale.

BASEBALL CLASSIC SET

Six Teams Entered. Plans for the first Central New Jersey Baseball Classic were finalized this past week by Rider, Rutgers and Princeton.

The tournament, scheduled for March 21-26, will have those three central New Jersey colleges serving as hosts of the classic. The three visiting teams will be Southeastern Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Providence. Each visiting team will play two games apiece at the home field of the host schools during the tournament. Princeton, Rutgers and Rider will not meet each other during the week of competition.

The classic will serve as an alternative, for Princeton, Rider and Rutgers and the other three teams, to the heavy expenses involved in making a southern trip each year for training purposes.

LAWRENCEVILLE VICTOR

Trounces Peddie, 34-14. Lawrenceville defeated Peddie in football Saturday, 34-14. The win was its fifth straight while Peddie stands at 0-6.

Lawrenceville scored first when tailback Kevin Ellis ran four yards for the touchdown.

The score capped a 79-yard drive in 14 plays.

In the second quarter, Peddie, unable to move the ball on the ground, was forced to the air, but Lawrenceville back Rick Clancy picked off Charles Nugent's pass and returned it 81 yards for a touchdown. Shortly after the kickoff, Peddie was forced to punt again, and the Larries, led by Doug Dutchyshyn, drove 79 yards for another score.

Mark Flood scored the fourth touchdown of the afternoon when he intercepted Nugent's pass and returned it 65 yards. Then Ellis hit wingback Chip Holcombe with a 17-yard pass for the victors' final touchdown. Peddie was able to score twice in the final minutes of play, these touch downs marking the first time in three years that Peddie has scored against the Larries.

This Saturday, Lawrenceville will be at home against a strong Choate team from Wallingford, Connecticut.

MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

PDS Defeats Hun First Time Ever in Football

In the years to come the record book may be no help in explaining why this year's Princeton Day School football team was so special.

The ledger will show a team that finished below the .500 mark (3-4) with the first losing season in several years. It was barely in two of the games, losing 46-0 to Chestnut Hill and 29-0 to Wardlaw. The two other contests it lost, it probably should have won.

But all that will be erased from the minds of those who recall the sweet memories of a sunny October morning and the Panthers' first victory ever over arch rival Hun. More talented PDS teams, which produced winning records and Class B championships, had never managed to win this one.

It certainly couldn't be called one of Hun's better teams either. At 1-5, the Red and Black is on the way to one of its poorest seasons in a long time, but its schedule of Division A prep teams is far tougher than that played by PDS. It also enjoyed a size and weight advantage over the smaller Blue and White players.

"Enjoy Yourselves." So, Princeton Day had little to lose when it stepped out on the field Saturday, and Hun didn't have too much more, except to uphold the 10-year streak of beating PDS. "I told my players to go out and enjoy themselves," coach Rob Hoffman said.

The first period did not produce any scoring, but it was crucial in setting an early pattern for the game. The Panthers found they could move the ball against Hun. One of their typical drives, three and four yards at a clip on short running plays, moved the ball 45 yards to the Hun 20, where it stalled.

At the same time, the PDS defense gained confidence as it shut down on Hun's attack. One of Hun's best running backs Dave Dukek was sidelined by an ankle injury, leaving Tim Teel to do double duty.

In the second period, Chris Price intercepted one of Brian Lee's passes, and the Blue and White drove down deep into Hun territory. This drive also stalled, but on fourth down on the Hun 17, Dave Barondess kicked a 37-yard field goal. The ability to put even three points on the scoreboard, especially the first three in the game, helped the Panthers maintain the upper hand.

Hoffman had been saying all season that Barondess' ability to kick field goals, would one day mean the difference, and it couldn't have come at a better time.

The Big Play. In the third period, PDS got a big lift on a long run by Rob Olsson, that eventually led to its only touchdown. Minutes earlier Olsson had been responsible for stopping a Hun threat when he forced Lee to fumble after he had gained about 15 yards on a quarterback option down to the PDS 20.

RIGHT TIME FOR GOOD TOE: All season long Dave Barondess' place-kicking had been accurate and last Saturday it provided the winning three points as Princeton Day scored its first victory ever over Hun School, 10-7.

chance. PDS had a 10-7 victory.

"On paper we have no right beating them," Hoffman commented. "It just goes to show what a little determination can do. Our offensive line blocked beautifully, and quarterback Jeff Freda put it all together today."

Olsson was the game's leading rusher with 133 yards. Game after game, he made everybody realize that Billy Martin was not irreplaceable.

For Hoffman, his first season becomes a resounding success, with even greater possibilities next year, when everybody but Mark Zawadsky and Dave Mottley will return. Who knows, the Panthers may be able to start their own streak against Hun.

Hun's tally came in the fourth quarter with six minutes left on a square out pass into the end zone on fourth down from the seven-yard line. Plenty of time was still left for another Hun score.

The remainder of the game was played in PDS territory, with the Panthers clinging to the three-point lead. A third down punt got the Panthers out of trouble at one point near their own goal line. A roughing the passer penalty on a fake punt play helped another and an interception by Tim Murdock in the final minute or so dashed Hun's last

PDS RANKED NO. 1
For Class B Soccer Tourney. A 2-0 victory over Rutgers Prep last week gave the Princeton Day soccer team its 10th win of the season against one loss and two ties, but more importantly, the Panthers gained the number one ranking in the post-season tournament to determine the Class B championship for New Jersey prep schools. This gives them the home field advantage in each contest.

The first game in the tournament for PDS could be played on Friday against Pennington, if the Red Raiders defeat Englewood in a game scheduled to be played this Wednesday. PDS has a regularly scheduled game against Pennington this Friday at 3:30 at home, and it would also count as the first round of the playoffs.

If Englewood wins, the Blue and White would meet it one day next week. The championship game will also be played next week. Wardlaw is ranked number two, and Gill-St. Bernards and Blair are playing off for the third spot.

Another important game for the Panthers, which has nothing to do with any tournament play, is scheduled to be played this Wednesday against Lawrenceville. PDS has never beaten the Larries in three attempts, with last year's contest ending in a 1-1 tie. Lawrenceville has been designated as the number one seed in the A Division tournament, so the game could match the two eventual champions.

Against Rutgers Prep last week, Mike Walters headed in his 20th and 21st scores of the season on assists from Steve Farr and Ralph Ross. The scores came in the second and fourth quarters, with PHS outplaying Rutgers Prep most of the way.

PHS FLAT, LOSES 14-6
Can it Rise to Defeat Lawrence? "We don't seem like we want it."

"We've got to start attacking 'em hard!"

"Come on, we're really down."

These comments could be heard emanating from the PHS huddle during a time out with 7:30 left in the second quarter of the Little Tigers' game Saturday with St. Anthony. On the next play, Dave Murzda passed 33 yards to Bill Golden and the visiting Blue and White was down 14-0.

A flat Princeton High team had played uninspired ball in the first half, but there were still two periods to go. The second half couldn't be a replay of the first.

But midway in the third period it became apparent that the Little Tigers were still struggling. "We're letting 'em do it to us. We're number one! We can't let anybody take that away from us."

The players' exhortations to each other had no effect. They were whistling past the graveyard. The Iron Mikes did indeed take something away from them: first place in the Colonial Valley League and perhaps some momentum that the club appeared to have been building in winning its three previous games.

The Little Tigers are at a crossroads. Can they win their next two games — both conference contests — and finish with a solid 4-1 league mark? That should earn them a chance to share the league title.

Or will they fall victim to the offensive and defensive malaise that affected them in the final 14-6 loss to St. Anthony? Another comment heard more than once from both the PHS players and onlookers in the St. Anthony loss was, "I can't believe this!"

PHS coach Jim Beachell discounted the possibility that an accident involving one of the team buses to the game had any effect on the team's performance. "It may have had in the first few minutes," he conceded, "but not after that." Two players, ends Tom Breithaupt and Bob Cooke, were left behind for x-rays. Neither is a starter.

LAWRENCE H.S. Next, Princeton's next game is against Lawrence Saturday at 2 at the Cardinals' field. Lawrence has won only one of five games this fall and was beaten last week by Notre Dame, 14-6. The Irish, incidentally, are the Little Tigers' opponent the following week.

Off comparative records, PHS would rate a slight favorite over Lawrence but Beachell maintains the whole league is equal. "On any other day we could have stopped them," he remarked after the St. Anthony loss.

And the standings in the league bear him out. Notre Dame is on top with a 2-0 record with PHS and Hightstown close behind at 2-1. St. Anthony's (1-1) is still in it, while Lawrence is 1-2 and West Windsor 0-3.

In a league of equal ability, attitude and desire will be paramount. The team with the better mental edge will win. And as PHS demonstrated against St. Anthony last week, those are qualities no coach can predict.

IRON MIKES SCORE EARLY. St. Anthony scored its first TD in the first period. After taking the opening kickoff of the one-hour delayed game, the Iron Mikes drove steadily downfield from their own 32, only to have halfback John Chiarello (110 yards in 21 carries) fumble the ball on the one. Barry Turner recovered for PHS. It appeared that the Little Tiger defense, so successful in forcing mistakes the previous two games, was at it again.

But four plays later, PHS flubbed a handoff and the Mikes' Joe DiFalco fell on the ball on the 11. On a fourth and one, fullback Mike Lihvarcik, who later said that it was the best rushing game of his career, bulled over from the one. The 201-lb. senior gained 90 yards in 19 carries.

Beachell's assistant coaches, Jim O'Neill.

Had there been any thought of calling the game off? It was a possibility, Beachell replied. "But we knew they were dressed and ready to play. We took a team vote. The kids wanted to play."

Beachell acknowledged that he, too, had wanted to play the game. "Now, I might think differently," he added wryly.

PHS GIRLS REPEAT
As Tennis Champions. The Princeton High School girls tennis team is again the Central New Jersey Group 2 tennis champions.

Only months after the girls won the same title in the spring, their present record under coach Bill Humes is 12-0. They are also champion of the Colonial Valley League where they are unbeaten in seven games.

the NJSIAA state tournament, the Little Tigers have defeated Hightstown, 3-2, St. Rose, 4-1, and Rumson-Fair Haven, 3-2. They were scheduled to meet the Southern New Jersey champions this week in the Group 2 semi-finals.

Singles players on the PHS team are Karen Clark, No. 1; Vera Jesser, No. 2, and Leslie Krause. The number one doubles pairs Ellie Rose and Vickie Phillips, the number two, Nancy Ackerman and Carol Ludlum. Jane Arrington is the first alternate.

This is the first year the girls have been coached by Humes, but the transition has been as effective as a 6-0, 6-0 win. Until a year ago, Humes had coached the PHS boys team for some 15 years until a change in his school duties forced him to turn over the reins to Joe Diefenbach.

His record with the boys was just as spectacular as it has been with the girls' tennis team. A long time player and instructor himself, Humes however downplays his role in the school's year-after-year success in the sport.

In tennis-minded Princeton, he and his counterpart on the boys team reap the benefit of hundreds of young players who are wielding tennis rackets long before they are kicking footballs or swinging field hockey sticks.

WHEN SORROWS COME...

PDS Adds to Hun's Woes. The difference was a 27-yard field goal by Dave Barondess, but in Hun coach Dave Leete's mind, it was more a matter of desire and mistakes.

In reviewing Hun's 10-7 loss to Princeton Day School Saturday -- it's first to the Panthers -- Leete commented, "We played poorly; we made too many mistakes."

"The kids fouled up too much. Surely, they're not a better team than we are. PDS just wanted it more than we did."

The loss was the fourth in a row for the reeling Hun team and fifth in six starts. Like Hun, Pingry, the Red and Black's next opponent, has a 1- record.

"It should be an interesting game," predicted Leete. "We've both lost to the same teams." It will be played Friday afternoon at 2:45 at Pingry.

After Pingry, only the finale with Admiral Farragut remains. In normal seasons, Hun would use both schools to fatten up its win column but PDS last week erased any hopes about this being a normal year for Hun.

Midway in the final period, after Hun had scored its only touchdown, the six-pointer coming on a four-yard pass from Brian Lee to Tom West, Hun forced the home-team Panthers to give up the ball again. But on the first play, Hun halfback Tim Teel fumbled and PDS recovered.

It was that kind of day for Hun. In the third period, it lost the ball again on a fumble on the PDS 11. In the first half, an interception stopped a Hun drive on the 25.

Teel gained 101 yards in 16 carries for Hun and Leete cited the defensive play of tackle Bob Cronin. But otherwise Leete did little to hide how disappointed he was in his team's performance. "We didn't play well at all," he said.

TWO WINS, ONE LOSS

For PDS Girls' Soccer. The Princeton Day Girls' soccer team lost its second game of the season to Princeton High last week, but won two other contests to raise its season's mark to 7-2-1. The Little Tigers are the only team to beat PDS this season.

In this case, the winners needed only the last half of the first period, which they dominated completely, to put the game away. They got both goals at this point, taking four of their eight shots. The Panthers had 16 shots, including about four one-on-one situations, but all were stopped by a superb Princeton High goalie.

The two victories came by the identical score of 4-2 against Hillside last Wednesday and Union last Friday. Against Hillside, Catherine Ferrante scored in the first and second periods to give the Blue and White a 2-0 lead at last period first, their record the half. Alexis Arlett tallied could be 5-1 instead of 1-5, in the third period and Clooie Once again, WW finished with Sherman in the fourth, a rush, scoring twice in the Hillside scored in each of the final periods on runs of two and six yards by Ron Dilatash.

Arlett got the Panthers off to a fast start Friday against overcome a 20-0 lead by the Union with a pair of first-period scores. Ferrante added but we can't catch 'em. That's one in the second and the way it's turning out," Rosenberg found the range in Walker agreed.

The girls will finish out their regular season schedule this week, playing Edison High on Wednesday and Yale at New Haven on Friday.

Next week Princeton Day will hold its first post-season tournament. On Wednesday Edison will play Princeton High and PDS will meet Hillside, with the winners playing off on Friday. That's expected to be PDS and PHS, so the Panthers will get one more shot at Princeton High.

WW TO TRY AGAIN

For First Conference Win. The West Windsor football team, a 20-14 loser to Green Brook last week, will try again to win its first Colonial Valley League game.

The Pirates, in the league cellar with an 0-3 mark, will play host Saturday to St. Anthony's in a 1:30 contest. St. Anthony's is coming on strong.

It won its first league game and second straight last week, upsetting Princeton High School, 14-6, to hand the Little Tigers their first league loss. "It seems we get all the good teams," lamented West Windsor coach Rex Walker.

"It would be nice to get at least one league win...to show them that we exist," Walker added. Despite the loss to Green Brook, which left the Pirates with a 1-5 mark, he reported the players were not down.

If the Pirates could play the half, Alexis Arlett tallied could be 5-1 instead of 1-5, in the third period and Clooie Once again, WW finished with Sherman in the fourth, a rush, scoring twice in the Hillside scored in each of the final periods on runs of two and six yards by Ron Dilatash.

Next week Princeton Day will hold its first post-season tournament. On Wednesday Edison will play Princeton High and PDS will meet Hillside, with the winners playing off on Friday. That's expected to be PDS and PHS, so the Panthers will get one more shot at Princeton High.

As in the Princeton High School game a week ago, a muffed punt led to the first Green Brook score. Only this time the play was surrounded with controversy.

After signaling for a fair catch, the WW receiver bobbled the ball slightly and Green Brook recovered on the WW 35. Walker and his staff, however, insisted the official on the play had blown his whistle before the fumble.

"You can see it on the film," he said. The official denied blowing his whistle, claiming it had come from someone in the stands. "We were claiming inadvertent whistle and a penalty for interfering with a fair catch. Instead, we wound up with nothing," said Walker.
